

Dear Roosevelt students,

We know that you are struggling. You should study and find your tree. That's why we are challenging you to see who could get closer to their dreams. Are you up to the challenge?

Us fifth graders from First St. School would like to challenge you to seeing who could accomplish their dreams first. We heard that you feel embarrassed with telling your dream. Telling your dream is nothing to be embarrassed about. You guys are role models to us. If you are struggling with anything just ask for help.

All you have to do is start right now. Would you rather mess around or follow your dreams? I am sure that your parents would be proud of you if you follow your dreams. There are two paths to life, one in jail, dead, or drugs. The other path is living your dream. So what do you say?

Sincerely your fifth grade challengers from First St. School.
